1. The Market Context

The market for regenerative communities and alternative ways of living is moving, but still fragmented. Three currents are visible.

Movement 1: Systemic dissatisfaction

A growing group of educated professionals in Europe feels that the current system no longer holds. They read about climate, governance, food, and meaning. They are looking for something coherent, non-ideological, and real. This audience exists, it is active, but it is flooded with spiritual bypass, NGO language, and startup aesthetics. Sulitânia speaks a language they recognise.

Movement 2: Rural regeneration becomes policy

ENEI 2030, AP Portugal 2030, the EU Green Deal, the Algarve 2030 strategy: they all describe the same thing. "Living labs", "demonstrator projects", "community-led development". Sulitânia is precisely what policymakers describe but rarely see. This opens institutional doors that remain closed to most cooperatives.

Movement 3: Syntropy goes mainstream

Ernst Götsch is being translated, the FAO publishes on agroecology, Elaine Ingham teaches thousands. There is a growing audience that knows what syntropic agroforestry is and actively searches for real examples. Sulitânia is one of them.

The gap in the market

Almost nobody communicates from all three simultaneously, from a grounded voice, without movement language, with real numbers and real people. That is the space Sulitânia can occupy.

2. Strategic Positioning

Sulitânia communicates from one base position, which does not change per channel or audience. Only the entry point differs.

The position

We are a working example of what it looks like when you apply the principles of living systems to human society. No theory. No movement. No promise. One place, with people and soil and numbers.

The coined term

Syntrociety. This is the intellectual property of Sulitânia. It is the only word that expresses the combination of ecological design and social architecture. It deserves a place in public vocabulary. Communication helps build that.

What Sulitânia is not

- Not an ecovillage
- Not a commune
- Not an NGO
- Not a retreat centre
- Not an ideology
- Not a movement

What it is — in one sentence

"A cooperative community building a society that functions the way living systems do."

3. Three Audience Streams

Three kinds of people are drawn to Sulitânia, via three different entry points, with three different needs.

Audience	Entry point	Need	Journey
The Seeker	LinkedIn, article, podcast	A framework, not a place	Think → resonate → support
The Visitor	Instagram, Airbnb, word of mouth	An experience that is real	Discover → visit → connect
The Supporter	Already knows Sulitânia	A way to be part of it	Know → contribute → belong
Institutional	Policy documents, referral	Evidence and alignment	Read → verify → engage

The institutional audience is different in nature: municipality, grant funders, European funds, policymakers, academics. They respond not to emotion but to evidence. The Heal the System analysis, the Position Paper, the numbers are for them. Their communication is formal, documented, and always in the language of their own policy framework.

4. Three Brand Layers

Sulitânia has three brand layers, each with its own voice, all coming from the same centre.

Layer	Voice	Primary channels
Sulitânia (place + cooperative)	First person plural. Ground, people, projects, governance.	Website, newsletter, Instagram
Syntrociety (the idea)	Analytical, systemic, evidence-based.	Heal the System analysis, Position Papers, academic contacts
Floris / Disruptive Leadership (the person)	First person singular. Most reach.	LinkedIn

These three layers must be coherent but not identical. A LinkedIn post by Floris sounds different from a page on the website, but they come from the same centre.

5. Channel Strategy

LinkedIn

Primary reach channel

Floris's account is the strongest distribution infrastructure Sulitânia has. The Disruptive Leadership content builds an audience that are precisely the Seekers. Strategy: maintain 2-3 posts per week. Integrate Sulitânia organically as example and evidence, not promotion.

Sulitânia website

Home base

Every channel effort leads here. Priority: Friends page functional, Journal consistent, Visit page operational, Syntonic visible. Everything that does not contribute to one of these goals waits.

Newsletter

Direct relationship

The most valuable contacts are email subscribers. No algorithm in between. Target: 500 subscribers end 2026. Monthly newsletter in seven languages via Resend. Content: one story from the land, one project update, one invitation.

Instagram

Visual discovery channel

Not yet active, but high potential. Once the three priority photographs are made, there is a basis for consistent visual presence. Frequency: 3-5 per week. Never copy LinkedIn content directly. Instagram shows, LinkedIn tells.

Syntonic

Sound channel

Podcast and DJ sessions are the most distinctive communication tool Sulitânia has. Nobody else combines syntropic agroforestry with ambient sound and philosophical conversations. Target: two Syntonic Sessions per month, one podcast episode per month.

Institutional track

Separate and deliberate

Position Papers, analyses, formal correspondence with the municipality, grant applications: this is a separate track. Always in the language of the policy framework. Always with numbers. The Heal the System analysis is the anchor document.

6. Content Pillars and Rhythm

All content falls within five pillars. This determines what is made and when.

The Land

What grows, what changes, what is measured. Seasonal rhythm. Drone images, soil data, harvest figures. Always concrete: "1,688 plants of 61 species."

The People

Who is here, what they do, what they learn. Honest about difficulties. Diversity visible. Children present.

The Questions

What we are exploring. Philosophical and practical. Never selling answers, always showing inquiry. "What if governance works like a forest ecosystem?"

The Sound

DJ sessions, podcast conversations, ambient recordings from the quinta. Frequency as content.

The Invitation

Visit, Friends, events, workshops. Concrete, without pressure. One clear next step.

Production rhythm (realistic for current capacity)

Channel	Frequency	Responsible
LinkedIn	2-3 per week	Floris
Website Journal	2 per month	Rotating members
Newsletter	1 per month	Floris + Claude
Syntonic Sessions	2 per month	Floris / Syntonic
Instagram	3-5 per week	To be assigned to a member
Position Papers	As needed	Floris + Claude

7. The Pioneer Dimension

This is the part most communication plans miss, and the most essential for Sulitânia.

Sulitânia is a pioneer. Not as a claim, but as a fact. There are no European cooperatives that simultaneously combine syntropic agroforestry, consent governance, community energy, and a media arm on nine hectares within a consciously designed systemic framework.

The pioneer role means three things for communication:

1. Document what you do

The value of a pioneer lies not only in doing, but in making the doing visible. Every project documented with numbers, mistakes, and lessons is a contribution to a field that does not yet exist. The Journal is the archive. Write not only successes, write also what failed and why.

2. Be restrained with claims

A pioneer who calls themselves a pioneer loses credibility. Let the facts speak. "1,688 plants" says more than "thriving food forest." "Three years, almost €100,000 invested" says more than "serious commitment." The facts are the proof. Use them.

3. Make replication possible

Communication is not only for attracting, but for transferring. Handbooks, governance documents, the SSAFLab: this is knowledge infrastructure for others. If our experience can make it easier for another community to find coherence, then sharing it becomes part of our responsibility.

8. Measurable Goals for 2026

Only what matters. No vanity metrics.

Metric	Target end 2026	Why it matters
Friends of Sulitânia (paying supporters)	100	Primary revenue. Each is a relationship.
Email subscribers	500	Direct connection. No algorithm.
Discord members	200	Community depth.
Podcast downloads per episode	100	Reach of the deeper conversation.
Instagram followers	1,500	Discovery channel.
Website monthly visitors	2,000	Overall visibility.
Journal posts published	24	Consistency. 2 per month.
Syntonic Sessions released	24	Consistency. 2 per month.
Stripe recurring revenue (monthly)	EUR 1,000+	Cooperative financial health indicator.

9. The Production System

Three bottlenecks have been identified simultaneously: too little content, too little reach, and no consistent rhythm. These are all symptoms of the same underlying issue: there is no production system. A lightweight system that moves with life on the quinta, and that multiple people can carry, is the solution.

The content formula: one source, multiple formats

Every two weeks the cycle begins with one source observation: something that happened on the quinta, an insight from a meeting, a moment in the food forest. That observation becomes one Journal post (500-1000 words, first person plural, written by the member who experienced it). From that post:

Step	Output	Time
1. Source observation	WhatsApp message to content channel	5 min
2. Journal post	500-1000 words, first person plural	60 min
3. LinkedIn post	Personal, reflective, question at end	15 min
4. Two Instagram posts	One photo + caption, one quote	10 min
5. Newsletter paragraph	One section in monthly email	5 min

Three roles, one system

Role	Who	Task
The Observer	Every member	One photo or one sentence per day via shared WhatsApp channel. No context needed.
The Editor	1-2 members, rotating monthly	Turn raw input into two Journal posts and four Instagram posts per month. Maximum 2 hours per week.
The Voice	Floris	Translate deeper insights to LinkedIn and the newsletter. The only channel requiring a consistent personal voice.

10. Quarterly Plan 2026

Q2 2026 (April - June): Foundation

The goal of this quarter is one thing: a working production system, not maximum output.

- Weeks 1-2: Set up internal WhatsApp content channel. Explain the system to all members. Assign first monthly editor.
- Weeks 3-4: Make the three priority photographs. Drone food forest at sunrise, DJ setup at sunset, community meal.
- Weeks 5-8: First content cycle. Two Journal posts published. First newsletter sent. LinkedIn rhythm restored to 2x per week.
- Weeks 9-12: Instagram account active. First 12 posts placed. Friends page with Stripe live.
- Deliverable: System running. Friends page operational. First 10 newsletter subscribers outside the direct circle.

Q3 2026 (July - September): Growth

The goal: increase reach through consistency and activate the Syntonic layer.

- July: First Syntonic Session published. DJ session from the quinta, embedded on the Sulitânia website.
- August: First podcast episode. Not perfect. A conversation between two members about something current.
- September: First quarterly report to Friends of Sulitânia. Numbers, photographs, honesty about what was difficult.
- Deliverable: 25 Friends reached. 100 newsletter subscribers. Syntonic visible and active.

Q4 2026 (October - December): Depth

The goal: activate the institutional track and reach the Friends target of 100.

- October: Update Position Paper with new figures. Send to relevant institutions: Castro Marim municipality, CCDR Algarve.
- November: Year-end campaign for Friends. One well-written newsletter, one LinkedIn post from Floris.
- December: Annual communication evaluation. What worked, what did not, who carries what in 2027.
- Deliverable: 100 Friends reached or visibly on track. Institutional track active.

11. Institutional Track

Institutional communication follows a different logic from audience-facing communication. It is not aimed at reach but at recognition. And recognition is built not through regularity, but through timing and precision.

The institutional track consists of three instruments:

The Heal the System analysis

This document is the anchor. It explains why Sulitânia is systemically relevant for Portugal. It is not promoted on social media. It is shared directly with policymakers, academics, and grant funders at the right moment.

Position Papers

Made when there is a concrete goal: a response to a policy document, an application, a formal conversation. Never made in advance. The Position Paper for Castro Marim is the model.

The quarterly report for Friends

Also readable for institutional audiences. It is honest, numbered, and shows progress. A councillor at the municipality or an EU fund manager who receives this report sees an organisation that is serious about documentation.

Framework	Alignment	Entry point
ENEI 2030	Agroecology living labs, regenerative model, demonstrator projects	ANI / Ministry of Economy
AP Portugal 2030	Community energy, social innovation, DLBC	AD&C; / structural funds
Algarve 2030	Laboratory of sustainability, depopulation, circular economy	CCDR Algarve
EU Green Deal	Farm to Fork, Biodiversity Strategy, Soil Strategy	DG AGRI / DG ENV
New European Bauhaus	Sustainable, inclusive, aesthetic rural building	DG Research & Innovation

12. Immediate Next Actions

Everything is ready. The website is operational. The brand story is written. The audiences are known. The only things missing are the visual evidence that the quinta is real, and a concrete way for people to become part of it.

This week

1. Fix the journal/field-notes 500 error.

Urgent. The only live Journal post gives a server error. Linked from Floris's biography page.

2. Uniformise the email address.

Replace cooperativasulitanea@gmail.com with info@syntrociety.com throughout the entire site. Five minutes of work.

3. Fix placeholder pages.

Replace 500 errors on spring-retreat-2026 and event detail pages with clean placeholder messages.

4. Set up the internal WhatsApp content channel.

Introduce the system to all members. Assign the first monthly editor.

This month

- Make the three priority photographs: drone food forest at sunrise, DJ setup at sunset, community meal.
- Activate the Friends page with Stripe checkout. The financial architecture of the cooperative depends on it.
- Send the first newsletter to everyone who already knows Sulitânia.
- Implement the text humanisation changes across homepage, Friends page, and Syntonic page.

Communication is not something we manufacture. It is something we make visible.

Sulitânia is one place. The movement behind it is much larger.
